Florida Coast

Among the newspaper tear-sheets I brought back from my stay in Florida was one from the Oct. 30 edition of the Tampa Tribune reporting on the running fight of seashore home owners to retain their riparian rights—meaning that ownership of a beach front was theirs forever.

But for one reason or another seacoast rights are being constantly threatened either by governmental agencies or, more often, by land-hungry realtors.

The Tampa Tribune article deals specifically with the case of Anna Maria Key beach residents who are opposing a Corps of Engineers plan to control beach erosion by making a big land fill in front of private homes, reducing their access to the Gulf of Mexico.

More frequently, however, the threat to existing beach home owners comes from the maneuvering of really men who project big land fills between the present beach line and the open sea, dig canals, and create brand new beach property which cuts off the older homes from access to the Gulf.

This has happened in a number of cases but now Florida beach home owners are getting organized and are tying up the realtors in court.

Inland America is perfectly familiar with the term "riparian rights." What the term means to us is that if you own a farm with a creek running through it no one upstream can build a dam that cuts off the water flow through your property.

On the salt water coast "riparian right" means no one can build a house between your beachhouse and the sea.

Webster's Unabridged gives this definition of "riparian rights:

"The rights of a person owning land containing or bordering on a water-course or other body of water, or to its bank, bed or waters."

Leniency Out for Those of Voting Age

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A Superior Court judge has ruled that the law allowing 18-year-olds to vote has made them ineligible for leniency considerations based on age.

Judge Louis Schwartz refused an appeal for leniency Wednesday from an attorney for an 18-year-old who pleaded guilty to being a disorderly person. The judge sentenced Michael Henderson of Paterson to an indeterminate term in the New Jersey Reformatory for Males.

"The congressional action which made 18-year-olds eligible to vote in federal elections will prove to have been the opening of a Pandora's box," said Schwartz.

"If he is qualified to vote he is going to have to be responsible for criminal behavior as an adult."

Records Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Wednesday the National Highway Safety Bureau has approved a $220,500 grant to the state of Arkansas for expansion of a records system that supplies data on drivers, vehicles, accidents and roadways.

The expansion will bring the state's records system up to the national standard, he said.

Texarkana
Against Hike

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — In spite of warnings by Supt. E. D. Trice that more money is needed, the Texarkana School Board has voted not to ask for a millage increase in the March school election.

The board voted unanimously to retain the 56-mill tax rate and reduce spending.

More Clemency
Refused by Prison Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Pardons and Paroles refused Wednesday to recommend a further reduction in sentence for the 15 convicts whose death sentences were commuted to life in prison by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

The governor, who leaves office next Tuesday, commuted the sentences of all inmates on Arkansas' death row last week because of his objection to capital punishment.

Les Hollingsworth, Rockefeller's aide for prison affairs, said the governor was not bound by the board's recommendations and can reduce any of the sentences by executive action.

The board acted at the state Capitol after studying the report of a five-member review committee appointed by Rockefeller that recommended further clemency for nine of the 15, life sentences with parole eventually possible for two, and life without possibility of parole for the other four.

Of the nine for whom additional clemency was recommended, parole would have been possible as early as next year for two, although two also would have to wait until 1976 to become eligible under the committee recommendation.

Oscar Fendler of Blytheville, who is resigning from the board, offered a resolution that would have referred all 15 cases to Rockefeller without recommendation, but his proposal died because no one would second it.

Fendler said the board had not had enough time to investigate each of the cases. The five-member board was unanimously against further clemency in six cases and in no case did more than one board member vote for clemency.

The 15, their conviction, the committee recommendations were:

—Franklin Bosnick Sr., first-degree murder, life without parole.

—Frank Harris, murder, life without parole.

—Walter L. Brown, murder, a reduction to 48 years with parole eligibility possible in September 1976.

—Allen F. Davis, murder, a reduction to 30 years with parole eligibility possible in January 1974.

—Jerry Johnson, murder, a reduction to 34 years with parole eligibility possible in January 1974.

It Takes More Woman to Fill a Size 36 D
Bra Than 30 Years Ago

By ANN BLACKMAN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It takes more woman to fill a size 36 D bra than it did 30 years ago, and that's official.

The National Bureau of Standards reports that women's body measurements have grown since it published a standard 12 years ago based on a 1939 survey by the Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the new NBS standard is to update the sizing of women's apparel.

Based on data collected from the Departments of Agriculture and Health, Education and Welfare, the U.S. Air Force and mail order houses, the comparative study of women's body measurements shows the size 12 of yesterday, 34-25-36, is today's 35-26-37.

"There's a general increase in bust, hips and waist," said a quality control manager of a large mail order house. "We find women are getting heavier. Some say it's because they're more sedentary. They sit more and their hips spread."

This gentleman requested that his name not be used.

$600,027 Budget for
City of Hope in 1971
Approved by Board

The Board of City Directors approved a budget of $600,027 for the operation of the City during 1971. This is $24,507 more than the budget for 1970, due, principally, to an increase of approximately 5 percent in salaries for the 68 persons performing the various jobs of operating the city.

The Board approved the budget requests of the various city departments as submitted by the City Manager, except for $1,020 covering two items in the Health and Recreation Department. An item of $420 for a City Physician was removed from the proposal and a labor item of $600 in the Parks & Recreation Department.

In presenting the budget, City Manager Garland Medders said that this represented no increase in services, but an attempt to maintain the existing services at the same level with very little increase in revenues over the preceding year.

He pointed out that the City would have to buy about $50,000 worth of new machinery to maintain the land-fill operation at the dump ground. A recent order from the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission prohibiting burning at the dump ground means that there will have to be about four times as much trenching and covering and the equipment at the dump ground is already worn out. There was no money available in the current revenue of the City to cover these costs and they are not included in the budget. The Water and Light Commission has indicated that they would probably have surplus earnings available in an amount sufficient to cover the machinery cost. Listed below are the budgets of the different departments for 1970 and 1971:

Cold Will Continue
Over State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Weather Service is predicting sunny skies and continued cold weather over most of Arkansas today and tonight.

However, a low pressure system to the southwest is expected to bring cloudy conditions for Central and Southwest Arkansas, with the slight chance of some scattered rain or snow in extreme southeast Arkansas by late tonight and Friday.

The rest of the state will continue to have very cold weather and fair to partly cloudy skies through Friday.

The highs Wednesday ranged from 24 at Harrison to 39 at Texarkana.

Rep. William F. Foster Sr. of Englewood, chairman of the House Efficiency Committee, said Feldt accepted the post Wednesday. The post pays $22 a day, which means Feldt will receive $1,320 for the 60-day legislative session that begins Monday.

Egypt Planes
Violate the Ceasefire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian warplanes flew over Israeli positions in the Sinai desert and violated the Middle East ceasefire, the Israeli military command charged today.

A spokesman said the planes, of the Sukhoi fighter-bomber type, flew over Israeli-held territory about midday Wednesday at the "10 kilometer zone" and later east of Qantara, about 30 miles south of Port Said.

Israel filed a complaint with the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization.

Israel has charged Egypt with sending planes over its lines twice before since the new cease-fire went into effect on Aug. 5.

Ammunition
Dump Blasted
in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A 10-hour series of explosions today wrecked a big allied ammunition dump on the central coast of South Vietnam, killed three South Korean employees and destroyed more than 5,000 tons of munitions, officials reported.

Seven Americans and nine South Koreans were reported injured. The Koreans were employed by a Korean company working on a contract at the dump.

It was the worst ammunition explosion in South Vietnam in nearly two years.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the cause had not been determined, but an investigation was under way.

The spokesman said the blasts destroyed at least a third of the munitions in the dump at Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. Field reports said 15,000 tons of ammunition of all types were in the stockpile, including artillery shells, mortars, hand grenades and small arms ammunition.

The depot is on the side of a mountain about a mile and a half west of South Vietnam's fourth largest city and is well away from the city's residential area. Windows two miles away were broken by the explosions.

The first explosion about 2 a.m. triggered thousands of rounds of artillery and rockets. The area was littered with shell fragments and hundreds of rounds that were blown away but did not explode. Canisters of tear gas also went off.

The explosions subsided about noon, but occasional artillery rounds were still going off, and two small fires continued to burn. Several areas of the depot were sectioned off by earthen walls, and this apparently prevented complete destruction.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command announced that 33 American servicemen were killed in action in Indochina last week, 32 others died of such nonhostile causes as accidents and illness, and 305 were wounded in action.

A spokesman said American battlefield deaths during 1970 totaled 4,204, the lowest in five years and 55 per cent less than 1969's toll of 9,414.

The spokesman said nonhostile deaths totaled 1,841 in 1970, the lowest in that category in three years.

The U.S. Command said American casualties in the Vietnam war since Jan. 1, 1961, now total 44,241 killed in action, 9,064 dead from nonhostile causes and 293,529 wounded in action.

The U.S. Command also listed 1,431 U.S. servicemen as missing or captured.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 319 government troops killed in action last week and 841 wounded.

The U.S. Command reported 1,506 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed by allied forces last week, bringing total enemy losses since Jan. 1, 1961, to 691,881.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Faced with inflation and budgetary cuts, the scientists who synthesized human growth hormone had to borrow a $30,000 instrument to finish their work.

Announcement of the synthesis, a breakthrough in hormone research, was made Wednesday at a news conference by Dr. C. Li, professor of biochemistry and director of the Hormone Research Laboratory at the University of California at San Francisco.

Li's career studying hormones, the chemical messengers that regulate the body's functions, spans 32 years.

The instrument borrowed from the Children's Cancer Research Institute in Boston, Mass., was used in the step-by-step construction of the hormone, which is a chain-like protein molecule of 188 amino acid links.

Li and his colleagues borrowed it when they were unable to buy their own because of financial pressures on the laboratory caused by inflation and general cutbacks in federal funding of scientific research.

By BROOKS JACKSON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., announced today that his work as chairman of a commission to reform the Democratic Party is well on the way to completion, and that he is resigning that post to clear the way to run for the 1972 presidential nomination.

He said he expected to announce his candidacy formally in about 10 days, but that arrangements are still being made.

McGovern predicted that as a result of the commission's work the 1972 party nominating convention would have substantially more women, young people and minority group members as delegates than the tumultuous 1968 gathering at Chicago.

It will be "less a power brokers' convention and more a people's convention," he said. "I think it will be helpful to anyone who intends to take his case to the people. Yes, I think it will be helpful to me."

Nation Is in Grip of Zero
Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record low temperature of 17 below zero added to the cold weather woes of Albuquerque, N.M. today, and Fraser, in the mountains of Colorado, registered 43 degrees below zero in the early morning.

For the second straight day, Arizona's record low was broken at Hawley Lake, an Indian trading post on the Fort Apache Reservation, and a 50 per cent loss of that state's citrus crop seemed likely.

Arizona's record low is 41 below zero—two degrees under the previous mark set Wednesday.

A man who apparently fell on a doorstep froze to death in El Mirage, near Phoenix, Ariz., and thousands of persons in the Southwest experienced acute discomfort because of failing supplies of natural gas for heating.

More than a dozen states lying between the Rockies and the western Great Lakes had another subzero morning.

The National Weather Service reported the border to border and coast to coast freeze was fraying a bit in the Deep South and Southeast to the accompaniment of light rain and drizzle.

A warming trend was developing in a northward flow of air up the Great Plains. No such letup was in sight, however, in Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

In Arizona, Russell Shide-man of the Federal Insurance Corp., said the record cold wave in the citrus area "appears to be the worst we've experienced." He predicted a 50 per cent crop loss if it continues.

The three major utilities in Arizona have switched from gas-powered turbines to fuel oil because of natural gas cutbacks by the El Paso Natural Gas Co. Gas supplies were curtailed because of the heavy demand for heat.

Magma Copper Co. at San Manuel laid off 1,000 workers because the gas cutback idled its machinery.

Prisoners
Go on Lark,
Beat Up Man

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Frank Narrell, 58, operator of a North Little Rock domino parlor, was pistol-whipped about 1:50 p.m. Wednesday during an apparent robbery attempt, police said.

A short time later, police arrested Lloyd Miller, 33, a Cummins Prison Farm inmate who had been brought with another prisoner to the University of Arkansas Medical Center for a medical appointment.

Miller and Mike Rauche, 28, a trusty guard, were in the custody of John McGee, 30, a civilian guard, police said.

After the men were finished with their medical examinations, McGee told police he drove to a drug store and left the men outside the car while he went inside. They were still in the car when he returned, McGee said. Medical Center officials said the trio never arrived at the center.

Narrell was reported in fair condition at North Little Rock Memorial Hospital. He told police he was in the back room with some other men who were playing dominos when a man came to the back door, pulled a gun and demanded money.

Witnesses told police that the man struck Narrell several times on the head with the pistol and the gun went off, sending a bullet through the ceiling. Narrell later picked Miller out of a police lineup as the man who had assaulted him.

Miller and Rauche were taken back to Cummins Wednesday. Charges of attempted armed robbery and assault with intent to kill were filed against Miller today. Miller was in prison for armed robbery in Pulaski County.

"It is obvious that they were on a lark of their own," Sarver said.

Envoy Trying to Get Peace Talks Moving

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Special envoy Gunnar V. Jarring flies to Jerusalem today in an effort to get his Middle East peace talks moving.

Diplomatic sources said the Swedish diplomat bowed to Israeli demands and said they could not begin at U.N. headquarters until he conferred with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban.

U.N. diplomats expressed belief that the Jerusalem visit would be brief and that Jarring's talks at U.N. headquarters with representatives of Israel, Egypt and Jordan would start again in two or three days.

Jarring decided to make the trip after Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah urged for the second successive day that he accept an invitation extended by Eban in a message Dec. 28.

Arab sources charged privately that the proposal was a stall to delay the peace talks, but Western diplomats said Jarring believed the Jerusalem visit was necessary to get the talks off the ground.

It was not clear why Israel placed so much stress on the meeting, but some observers speculated Eban might seek to shift the site of the indirect Arab-Israeli talks to Cyprus or some other location closer to the Middle East.

Eban in his invitation to Jarring said he wanted to survey the situation, to acquaint you with the basic views of my government and to discuss steps necessary to ensure the fulfillment of your mission for the promotion of agreement on the establishment of peace.

The Soviet Union wanted the Big Four to take a more active role, perhaps offering guidelines for the talks. Britain and France expressed their readiness to help, when and if needed.

Outgoing Baker Reason Why Those With Good Memories Are Usually Optimists

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Truman Baker, chairman of the Arkansas Highway Commission, said Wednesday this might be a good time to seek additional highway revenue through a motor fuels tax increase.

He made the remark to reporters during a commission meeting, which honored him with a plaque and a statement expressing appreciation of other commission members for his service. Baker is nearing the end of his 10-year tenure on the commission.

Ward Goodman, state highway director, said that gasoline prices, higher now than in recent months, usually went up just prior to a legislative session. He declined when offered the opportunity to suggest that the gasoline industry hikes prices to discourage the possibility of a new tax levy.

Lawrence Blackwell, a commission member, recalled, however, that gasoline sellers once had contended that a half-cent tax increase under legislative consideration would raise the price to more than the public could bear, dooming the industry. The industry then raised the wholesale price by about six cents before the year was out, he said.

The commissioners gave Baker, whose term expires Jan. 17, a map showing highway projects completed and still in progress but stemming from his time of service on the commission. Goodman said about $750 million had been invested in highway development in the state during the last 10 years. Baker, an automobile dealer at Searcy, has been chairman of the commission the last two years.

Arsenic in Poultry Is Declining

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials report a steady decline in the rate of illegal residues of organic arsenic are found in poultry samples, but the number of violations remains higher than for any other farm feed additive.

Officials stressed that residues of organic arsenic present no apparent human health hazard since the substance is far less toxic than inorganic arsenic the poison made famous in fiction and history.

Agriculture Department figures provided in response to an Associated Press query showed 27.5 per cent of the poultry samples taken in 1968 contained excess amounts of organic arsenic. The figure dropped to 17 per cent of the 399 samples taken in 1969.

The Agriculture Department did not have complete figures for 1970, but officials of the Food and Drug Administration said monthly reports indicate illegal residues were found in from 5 and 8 per cent of the poultry sampled last year.

Organic arsenic—like hormones, antibiotics and other additives—is put in animal feed to make the beasts grow faster.

The government limits residues of the additives in the human food supply by specifying that the drugs be withdrawn from the feed for a certain number of days before slaughter. The five-day withdrawal period for organic arsenic is the longest required.

But compliance with the withdrawal period depends largely on individual farmers and some specialists have argued that adherence is spotty.

Agriculture Department inspectors found illegal residues of antibiotics in a slightly over 1 per cent of the red meat animals sampled in 1968 and 1969. Hormone residues were detected in less than 1 per cent of the beef cattle tested.

The FDA seizes, where possible, the meat of animals found with excessive residues. Often, however, the tests are completed only after the meat has already gone to market, officials said.

Dr. C. D. van Houweling, director of FDA's bureau of veterinary medicine, said the agency began using a new approach three months ago. Now the government issues citations against farmers. The citations could eventually lead to injunctions

Spurweed on Lawns Leaves Sharp Burs

Spurweed (formerly known as Knawel) is the weed you had if you thought you found sandbur in your lawn last April or May. Spurweed germinates in late fall and during warm periods in winter, makes leaf growth in spring and matures its fruit (tiny, sharp burs) about the last of April to the first of June or later.

Calvin J. Caldwell, county Extension agent, says it produces numerous seeds in each bur and forms a bur at each place that the plant stem divides. Spurweed is generally not noticed until the burs are matured and hard. It generally grows only to 1 to 2 inches tall. Spurweed has a carrot-like leaf and branches freely.

Small spots of this plant have been effectively eliminated in Bermuda lawns with an application of 1 pound of ammonium nitrate fertilizer for each 200 square feet of lawn area. This fertilizer material "burns down" the plants present and additional plants may come later from seeds. Other weeds are not controlled by this treatment and perennial weeds may be fertilized if a desirable turf grass is not present to compete for the fertilizer.

Mr. Caldwell says Silvex can be used to get rid of spurweed plants present now. Retreatment will be necessary for plants germinating later in the winter and early spring. Consult your county Extension agent for rates to use and possible shrub injury.

In several demonstration trials over the state, simazine has shown very good weed control activity on this and other winter weeds. When applied preemergence (first week in September) or postemergence (as late as the first week in March) this weed has been almost totally eliminated. Not only are existing plants controlled, but weeds germinating after treatment are also controlled by the preemergence action of this herbicide.

Mr. Caldwell says there are precautions to observe in using simazine. This herbicide is not generally available in small packages at this time. When used at rates of 2 or 3 times the rate suggested (1 pound 4 per cent granules per 1,000 square feet) there is likelihood of injury to desirable lawn grasses and shrubs. At suggested rates, now injury should occur.

Simazine has registration for use in sod production on Zoyzia, St. Augustine, and Centipede grasses. This herbicide is an ingredient in at least one brand of lawn weed and feed material at low concentration. The only lawn experience in Arkansas to date has been on common Bermuda so its effect at the above rate on improved Bermuda grass strains is not known at this time.

The information above is presented so that you may be aware of the latest information regarding the control of spurweed. Spurweed is one of our most troublesome lawn weeds and its presence both in individual lawns and in Arkansas is increasing.

IT'S "BIG BROTHER DAY"

Dear Helen:

You know, I've been telling my big brother I can't stand him, but really I love him, so I wrote—

WHAT IS A 17½-YEAR-OLD BROTHER?

A 17½ year old brother is the guy who spends one-quarter of his life underneath his car, another quarter under the hood, still another behind the wheel, and the last fourth doing various things such as sleeping, eating and dating, not necessarily in that order.

Who else can argue two hours with your father about "Why 'Hello Dolly' should be done in the nude?"

And isn't he the guy who goes out and buys a flea collar so your mother will stop griping about his long hair?

He also has a not-so-silent protest against maxis and midis—in fact he's been known to shout in the middle of a shopping center: "Down with stupid midis!"

He says he hates all your girl friends but every time they're over he walks around like Adonis. Somehow he manages to leave his Beatles record in your room so he'll have to ask for it, too.

He writes good mad letters to the editor.

He also says he digs beautiful blondes with lots of great hair. Then why is he going with a not-so-beautiful brunette with split ends? Why else? She understands him. Oh yes, a 17½-year-old needs lots of understanding.

His idol is Joe Namath. At 17½, a guy doesn't realize Joe also throws a great forward pass.

And last week, didn't you catch him sitting in the bathtub with blue jeans on, trying to form-shrink them? He is concerned with and dedicated to the solving of today's problems, although occasionally he has this terrible urge to laugh.

Last, there are only two words to describe my big brother: BORN WINNER. (He never got caught at anything). His only credo is: At 17½, ya can't lose! —16½.

Dear Readers:

Big Brothers are great. Here's another sister who thinks so:

A big brother is the first to tell you your levis are too tight and your skirt is too short, though he likes "that look" on other girls.

He brings his cute best buddy home just after you've put your hair up in soup cans. And by the time you're combed and made up, they're left already.

He's the one who tells you which boys are okay and which he'd better not ever catch you with—or else!

He's the one who, when you were kids and he was sick you gave your best stuffed animal to. . . And when he lost his first love (even though you didn't like her) you thought your heart would break for him.

He tells you what a dumb bunny you are—but nobody else had better". He teases you till you cry, then gives you a big hug.

He wouldn't tell you that you looked nice if his life depended on it. But he's the first one to tell another guy proudly, "That's my little sister."

He's the ore who, when you finally get the guy to come to the house, takes over the conversation with talk about cars and football.

He's the fella who hollers about girl drivers, but teaches you to drive, and lets you use your car. Now that you're older, he'll tell you off-color jokes, and embarrass himself silly. But if YOU tell him one—he gets "that look" on his face, and YOU feel silly.

A big brother is the one who, when you were going to run away, took your face in his hands, told you he loved you and talked you right out of it.

And when he goes in the Service, it hits you all of a sudden what a super-great guy he is, and you only hope that some day that special fella you meet will be just like him. —ANOTHER SISTER zine-format revue. It was devoted to some glimpses of America and Americans—taking a hard look, a warm look and a quizzical look.

In one sketch a comical chief mixed up a huge mess in a bowl, announcing each component including the artificial ingredients—and came up with a "modern lemon cream pie" without lemon, eggs or cream.

There was a denunciation of ethical drug advertising in magazines circulated among physicians. As the camera wandered over pictures of beauties in ads for tranquilizers, antibiotics and ringworm remedies, Washington columnist Nicholas Von Hoffman rolled off statistics about illness and death from adverse reactions to prescription drugs.

A cynical little cartoon feature told about a pig with a lovely operatic voice who went around singing happily but found that people just wanted to eat him.

Among the sketches that worked well was one about two lonely people sharing a park bench. Both were so insulated in their own unhappy worlds that they never really made contact.

Another high point was a heated argument in a Chicago bar over the contributions of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Presided over by author Studs Terkel—who yelled as much as his acquaintances—no one seemed aware of the camera and most of the time all were talking at once.

A satire on torrid literary styles in the confession magazines ran much too long. A car-smashing contest before a paid audience was obviously inserted

An imaginative touch came in a mechanical ballet showing computers matching up the lovelorn to the turn of "Strangers in the Night."

All this and more was well pulled together at the end with some remarks by U.S. Rep.-elect Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., who talked movingly about wanting to tell Washington about the importance of bringing down the walls between people.

The program was ambitious, it was too often angry and was far from smooth. It probably will anger some people. But it was stimulating and had something to say.

Gets Life for Conviction of Murder

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Clyde Ray Glover, 37, of Paragould was sentenced Wednesday to life imprisonment for the murder of Miss Judy Evans, 20, of Rector.

Glover, who had pleaded innocent originally, changed his plea to guilty Wednesday afternoon and Prosecutor Gerald Pearson dropped his request for the death penalty and requested instead life imprisonment for Glover.

A Circuit Court jury recommended life imprisonment and Judge A. S. "Todd" Harrison sentenced Glover late Wednesday.

The jury of 10 men and two women, which began deliberating Tuesday night, had been unable to reach a verdict until Glover change his plea in a surprise move Wednesday afternoon.

Glover was tried for the slaying of Miss Evans, whose body was found in her father's burning car in a gravel pit near Paragould March 1, 1969.

This was the second trial for Glover, who was convicted in 1969 and sentenced to death. The state Supreme Court threw out that verdict on grounds that the trial judge should have accepted challenges of four jurors by Glover's attorney.

Liston Had Needle Marks and Heroin

By MORTON L. SALTZMAN
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Police say Sonny Liston was found dead with heroin in his home and needle marks on his arms. But his former lawyer says the onetime heavyweight champion feared needles.

"In my experience he was afraid of needles. He would do everything he could to avoid taking shots," C. J. Murphy told newsmen Wednesday night after new tests were ordered to learn what killed the big boxer.

Murphy, a retired lawyer from Casper, Wyo., who had handled Liston's legal affairs since 1965, was asked whether the fighter used drugs. "Not to my knowledge," he replied.

An initial autopsy Wednesday failed to uncover what killed Liston, 38. His wife Geraldine found him Tuesday night sprawled on a bed in their $60,000 home. Authorities said he may have been dead for 10 days.

Authorities said a quarter-ounce of heroin was found in a balloon in the kitchen of Liston's home in the fashionable Paradise Valley section of Las Vegas. They said a half-ounce of marijuana was in Liston's trousers pocket, but that no narcotics paraphernalia, such as hypodermic needles, was discovered.

Tissue and toxicology examinations were planned by the Clark County coroner's office to pinpoint the cause of death.

Mrs. Liston said she and her foster son Daniel, 7, left Las Vegas Dec. 26 to visit her sick father in St. Louis. She said she flew back Tuesday night after repeated, unsuccessful attempts to call her husband at home, and found his body.

Liston had no money problems, Murphy said.

Other than Daniel, whom the Listons were in the process of adopting, the couple had no children.

Liston will be buried here Saturday.

Last Thanksgiving Day, Liston was injured in an automobile accident in Las Vegas and was hospitalized. He was released a few days later but was readmitted for a time when he complained of chest pains.

He was in many scrapes with the law, serving a prison term in Missouri for a restaurant robbery in 1952, a year before he started boxing professionally.

Squaw Valley Site Is Up for Sale

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The Squaw Valley resort area, built by the State of California for the Winter Olympics has been put on the auction block by Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration.

The site in the Sierras 100 miles east of Sacramento may be a picture postcard wonderland, but it has been a financial headache to the state since the 1960 Olympics.

The state has been losing as much as $300,000 a year on the Squaw Valley recreation area while concessionaires who operate the ski resort under lease from the state—leases going through 1968—have been turning a handsome profit. The leases will have to be renegotiated if the area is sold.

State officials declined today to say how much they would accept for the 1,200-acre site. They didn't want to hamper the bidding.

Assemblyman Eugene A. Chapple, whose district includes the resort, estimated the total investment in the area is around $22 million, including improvements by concessionaires since the games.

Bids will be opened April 2, about two years after the state Parks and Recreation Department is optimistic of getting an acceptable bid.

In explaining the annual losses, Chapple said, "We have been handicapped by a concession

Chiefs Grab Five All-Pro Positions

NEW YORK (AP) — Five members of the Kansas City Chiefs have been named to the Associated Press All-Pro team while just one player from the Baltimore and Dallas teams will meet in the Super Bowl—Cowboys' linebacker Chuck Howley—was able to crack the elite of pro football.

The Chiefs, who won the Super Bowl last year but were eliminated prior to the playoffs this season, grabbed five of the nine spots taken by American Conference players on a 24-man squad dominated by National Conference stars.

The Chiefs' complement consisted of three defenders—outside linebacker Bobby Bell, cornerback James Marsalis and safety Johnny Robinson—and two men on the offensive unit, tackle Jim Tryer and placekicker Jan Stenerud.

But it was the NFC which dominated the offensive unit in the balloting of sports writers and broadcasters that for the first time encompasses every team in pro football. In previous years, separate all-stars teams were selected for the American and National leagues.

Heading the offensive unit was John Brodie, San Francisco's veteran quarterback, and his teammate, wide receiver Gene Washington. The other wide receiving spot went to Dick Gordon of the Chicago Bears, with Charlie Sanders of Detroit at tight end.

The running backs were the only two 1,000-yard rushers in the NFL this season—Larry Brown of Washington and Ron Johnson of the New York Giants.

The line showed Tryer and Bob Brown of Los Angeles at tackle, Gale Gillingham of Green Bay and Gene Upshaw of Oakland at guard and Jim Otto of the Raiders at center.

Howley, a key member of the Domsday Defense which helped put the Cowboys into the Super Bowl against the Colts Jan. 17, heads a defensive unit on which two members of the Minnesota Vikings—end Carl Eller and tackle Alan Page—were strong vote-getters.

Rich Jackson of Denver grabbed the other end spot while Merlin Olsen of the Rams was Page's running mate at tackle. Dick Butkus of Chicago took the middle linebacking post, Jimmy Johnson of San Francisco was named at cornerback and Larry Wilson of St. Louis at safety. Dave Lewis of Cincinnati was the punter.

The closest voting occurred in the battle for the running back spots with Floyd Little of Denver in close pursuit of the top two. Little, however, did grab a spot on an All-AFC team put together in a breakdown of the voting. An All-NFC team also was picked.

Agreement we had to accept that we did not write. It was written for us by the Olympic Commission and then dumped in our lap."

Allen Gets Job With Redskins

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals fired Charley Winner and the Washington Redskins replaced Bill Austin with George Allen as the National Football League's game of musical coaches continued.

Wednesday's firings brought to nine the number of coaches to exit since the season began last September—and more departures are expected.

The others to be fired were Allen, a week ago by the Los Angeles Rams, Clive Rush of the Boston Patriots and Tom Fears of the New Orleans Saints.

Phil Bengtson of the Green Bay Packers, Wally Lemm of the Houston Oilers and Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns quit their jobs and Charlie Waller of the San Diego Chargers stepped down when Sid Gillman returned. And it has been reported that John Rauch of the Buffalo Bills, Jim Dooley of the Chicago Bears and Jerry Williams of the Philadelphia Eagles also might be on their way out.

Winner, who headed the Cards for five seasons—the longest coaching span in the club's history, survived a dismal 4-9-1 season in 1969 and appeared headed for the playoffs this season.

But his team managed to win only one of its final five games to finish at 8-5-1, third in the National Football Conference East.

Austin, who took over the Redskins upon the death of Vince Lombardi at the start of the 1970 season, piloted the team to four victories in its first seven games before a five-game losing skid saddled Washington with a 6-8, fourth-place finish in the NFC East.

Allen, also the Skins' new general manager, had a five-year, 49-17-4 record with the Rams, making him one of pro football's most successful coaches. He piloted them to a 9-4-1 mark in 1970, one game behind NFC champion San Francisco in the West.

St. Louis President Charles W. "Stormy" Bidwell said the firing of Winner "didn't come as something that was spur of the moment. We've been discussing it since the end of the season."

"I think that Charley—and I told him this—could do a great job with some other team," Bidwell said.

But Winner called his firing "completely unexpected. It was a real shock to me. I was already making plans for next season."

"Last year at this time I felt it could have happened, but not this year," he said. "I was so surprised I haven't had time to think what I'll do."

Austin, who formally coached the Pittsburgh Steelers to an 11-23-3 record through three seasons, said of his firing: "At present I'm out of a job—but I will be in the league."

"I have a good reputation in the business, at least good enough for other people to be interested in contacting me." He said he felt Washington President Edward Bennett Williams "was looking for a big name, a flamboyant coach ... I'm not a big name and I'm not flamboyant. I'm a football coach and I think I'm a good one."

Jackets and S. Carolina Post Wins

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Georgia Tech's Rich kid and South Carolina's Roche kid are a pair of backyard bullies who really throw their weight around.

They were certainly too much muscle for Clemson and Temple to handle in college basketball Wednesday night.

Rich Yunkus spanked Clemson with 35 points to steer Georgia Tech's 72-55 victory and John Roche powered second-ranked South Carolina past Temple 84-71 with 21 points that established a school record.

Yunkus, a pencil-thin, left-hander with outside shooting skill who is No. 6 in the country with a 32-point average, scored 19 in the first half as the Yellow Jackets soared to a 37-28 margin.

Then the blond bomber figured in a second-half scoring spree that helped the Yellow Jackets pull away for their ninth victory in 10 games. Clemson never got closer than the nine-point deficit in the second Yunkus also coaxed off 10 rebounds as Georgia Tech outlasted the Tigers under the boards 40-29. Dave Thomas and Pete Weddell led Clemson scorers with 13 points apiece.

Roche established a new career scoring mark with his night's work that gave him a total 1,527 points, 15 more than Jim Slaughter. The 6-foot-11 Slaughter, who established the mark in 1947-51, was watching from the stands.

South Carolina, rebounding from its first loss of the season Monday, trailed Temple at the start but solved the Owl's bloodhound zone defense behind Roche's crisp direction. After Roche and Co. pulled into a substantial second-half lead, the subs took over.

Tenth-ranked St. Bonaventure, only other member of the elite Top Ten in action, lost its first game of the season when beaten 75-73 by sky-high Detroit. Erik Rucker's two free throws with nine seconds left proved the winning margin.

The Bonnies, 8-1, led almost all the way until the Titans streaked ahead 65-64 on a free throw by Jim Jackson with 4:14 left. It was down to the wire the rest of the way, until Rucker nailed it.

Randy Denton scored a field goal with 17 seconds remaining, leading Duke over Wake Forest 68-67. The winning layup brought the Blue Devils back from a 36-35 halftime deficit. Charlie Davis led the losers with 26 points.

Glen Campbell Open Gets Underway

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lee Trevino is thinking about playing in the Masters—but not this year.

"Maybe next year," Trevino said today before teeing off in the first round off the $110,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

"I won't play this year, but maybe next," he said. "I really haven't decided but I'm thinking about it."

The flamboyant Trevino created a furor and aroused the ire of golf purists across the country two years ago when he said he wouldn't play in the staid and tradition-bound Masters tourney, generally considered one of the world's four major championships.

He said at the time that the hilly Augusta National course wasn't suited to his low-driving game. He later apologized to Augusta and Masters officials. And he hasn't played there University.

The announcement was made Wednesday by Athletic Director Don Floyd and new head coach Bill Davidson.

Malham, 46, served as head coach at Little Rock Catholic High School for 16 years, where he directed four regional championship teams.

Malham began his coaching career at Clinton in 1949. He moved to Catholic in 1952 and took the head coaching job at McClellan in 1968.

His record at Catholic was 104-70-6. His record at McClellan was 18-17-1.

Davidson said Malham will join the ASU staff immediately.

Thursday, January 7, 1971

Trevino, the 1970 Vardon Trophy champion and leading money winner, dropped the comment about the Masters as he was going over his goals and plans for the 1971 campaign.

"I'd say the British Open is my biggest goal," the tough-minded, quick-witted Mexican-American said.

"I'd like to win a tournament before April so I can get in the Tournament of Champions. That's always one of my big goals. I'd like to have another $100,000 season and play as much as possible," he said.

"I'd really like to win the British Open," Trevino continued. "I'm making that one of my big goals. It's at Royal Berkshire in southport, England, where they had the Ryder Cup two years ago. It's one of my favorite courses."

"I'm going to go over there a week early and do nothing but eat and sleep golf."

"I'm not in the Tournament of Champions yet, since both of my wins last year were before April, so I want to win one early this year and get in."

"And I want to play as much as I can," said Trevino, one of the most active players on the tour in the last couple of years.

John Brodie Picked Most Valuable

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — John Brodie, the venerable San Francisco quarterback whose passing arm propelled the 49ers to their best finish in 25 years, was named Most Valuable Player in the National Football League today by The Associated Press.

Brodie, peaking as a passer and field general in his 14th season with the 49ers, beat out George Blanda, 43-year-old miracle worker of the Oakland Raiders, in a two-man race.

The San Francisco veteran received 33 votes, to 27 for Blanda, in the balloting of a panel of 78 sportswriters and sportscasters who covered the 26 NFL clubs.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants and defensive tackle Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings shared third place with three votes each in the annual poll, which for the first time encompassed all of pro football. In previous years, two MVPs were selected—one each from the National and American Football Leagues.

The balding, 35-year-old Brodie captured passing honors for the first time in his career, pacing the National Conference with 2,941 aerial yards and 24 touchdown tosses while leading the 49ers to the Western Division title—first of any kind in their history.

He then engineered a 17-14 upset victory over Minnesota in the conference's semifinal play-offs before falling short with a late comeback bid as the 49ers bowed to Dallas 17-10 in last Sunday's NFC championship game.

Until last season, Brodie's major claim to fame was the $900,000 settlement he received after reportedly trying to jump five times with late-game hero-

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gerald Lockett of Arkansas AM&N continues to lead the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference in both scoring and rebounding.

The 6-foot-7 senior has a 25.8-scoring average and a 15.6 per game rebounding average.

Runner-up in scoring is Tommy Shaw of Arkansas Tech with an average of 23 points a game. Danny Davis of Henderson is third with 22.7.

Billy Barnes of Southern State is second in rebounding with a 14.7 average.

Pro Players, Owners Talk About Pension

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A pension at age 55 and $50 more per game for playing in preseason exhibition games are two of the provisions that pro football players have won in dickering with club owners.

Ken Bowman, Green Bay Packers' center who is vice president of the National Football League Players Association, disclosed that at the conclusion of two days of talks Wednesday.

Player representatives and spokesmen for the 26 NFL clubs discussed and came to tentative agreement on some provisions of a proposed four-year contract.

Bowman said a retired player could draw a pension at age 55 and get $50 a month for each year of pro experience. For instance, a 10-year man would get $500.

Last summer, nearly all players stayed away from training camp until an agreement was reached with owners for a $19.1 million pension and other fringe benefit package. But the two sides have not worked out a detailed pact, and the two-day talks here left several matters unsettled.

Player representatives are to discuss the NFLPA gains to date and matters still being debated with their fellow players and meet again after the Pro Bowl game, said Bowman.

Dallas Hit by Illness, Injuries

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys had their signal caller at practice Wednesday. But their quarterback was in bed with a sore throat.

Dallas opened preparations for the Super Bowl against Baltimore Jan. 17 on a sour note with quarterback Craig Morton in bed at home with a sore throat.

Coach Tom Landry, who has called the plays in Dallas' seven-game winning streak to the National Conference championship, said "Morton has a very bad throat and the doctor is concerned."

Morton, who has been plagued with a bruised right arm and a gimpy knee, guided Dallas to playoff victories over Detroit and San Francisco although he passed poorly.

"It's questionable whether Craig will work out this week," Landry said. "He could use a lot of work. The more he throws the better off he will be."

Landry said "We've got to hit 50 per cent of our passes" to defeat Baltimore.

"It will be much tougher to run against Baltimore because of the experience factor," Landry said. "It will be very difficult to win just hitting passes at the 30 per cent level like we have for the last few weeks."

Landry said Baltimore is "hitting its high point right now. The Colts look so much better than they did in September. They really are tremendous."

Schools Cleared of Recruiting Allegations

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP)—David Roller, an All-Southeastern Conference tackle at Kentucky, and five conference schools have been cleared of illegal recruiting allegations contained in two newspaper stories published shortly before the 1970 football season began.

The EC's Executive Committee reached its unanimous decision following a day-long meeting in Atlanta Wednesday and made public its findings shortly after midnight.

The articles in The St. Petersburg Times and The Chattanooga Times had quoted athletes as saying they had been offered excessive inducements to attend various schools in the SEC.

The committee said neither Roller nor the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky or Tennessee had violated NCAA or SEC regulations governing financial aid to athletes as stated in an Aug. 31 article in the St. Petersburg newspaper.

The committee also cleared Auburn and Georgia of alleged recruiting violations contained in a Sept. 9 story in the Chattanooga newspaper.

Celtics Just Explode Over the Sonics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seattle's SuperSonics, who couldn't win with Spencer Haywood on the basketball court, didn't have any better luck with him 3,000 miles away waiting for another court to convene.

The Boston Celtics, who officially joined the growing list of National Basketball Association teams protesting Seattle's signing of Haywood, exploded for 47 points in the final quarter Wednesday night and routed the Sonics 137-112.

In other NBA action, New York crushed Cleveland 127-94, Detroit nipped San Diego 100-99, Buffalo beat San Francisco 115-108, Milwaukee clipped Chicago 119-106 and Cincinnati lamed Portland 133-128 in overtime.

In the American Basketball Association New York beat Memphis 110-101, Kentucky outlasted Virginia 145-137, Carolina stopped the Floridians 120-113 and Indiana tripped Utah 111-106.

The Celtics protested their home game before it began, contending Haywood was an ineligible player on the Seattle roster—even though he was on the West Coast, awaiting the opening of a court hearing to sort out the controversy.

He signed with Seattle after becoming disenchanted with his reported $1.9 million contract with the ABA's Denver Rockets. Other NBA teams argue that it violated a league rule prohibiting the signing of a player whose college class has not been graduated. Haywood turned pro after his sophomore year at the University of Detroit. His class will be graduated this June.

Boston broke a 90-90 tie by outscoring the Sonics 14-4 at the start of the final period, then steadily pulled away. John Havlicek's 32 points and Dave Cowens' 28 paced the Celtics. Dick Snyder had 26 for Seattle.

New York had no trouble handing the hapless Cavaliers their 43rd defeat in 48 games, opening a 28-point halftime lead. Cazzie Russell, with 18 points, topped the balanced Knicks attack. Luther Rackley led Cleveland with 19.

Dave Bing's game-high 30 points, including seven in the final three minutes, and Otto Moore's two clutch free throws with seven seconds to go brought the Pistons their seventh victory in nine games. Elvin Hayes had 23 for San Diego.

Buffalo, nursing a one-point lead with 3:23 to play, pulled away from the Warriors on Don May's crucial five points. Bob Kauffman topped the Braves with 20 while San Francisco got 26 apiece from Clyde Lee and Jerry Lucas.

New London and Oscar Robertson teamed for 47 points for Milwaukee, which broke open a close game to take a 21-point lead into the final quarter. Chicago's two love had 29 points.

Kate Arambold's 23 points, including three in the extra session, carried Cincinnati past the Trail Blazers. Norm Van Lier led the Rockets with 26 Geoff Petrie had 20 for Portland.

Facilities Discussed

GARLAND MEDDERS
City Manager, Garland Medders, was presented by Kiwanian Mike Kelly as guest speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

Mr. Medders talk was in the form of a report concerning certain aspects of the operation and accomplishments of the city government the past year, dealing more specifically with the water and power development.

Over a period for the last few years the city has built a high power line completely around the outskirts of the city with adequate power to serve now and into the future. However, with industrial development taking place north of Hope special arrangements are now being made to supply even more power to that area.

Twelve inch water mains have been extended beyond the outskirts of the city, North, South, East and West, providing enough water to supply sprinkler systems as well as daily water demands of present and future industries, and wells are being drilled into here-to-fore untapped sources to insure adequate water supplies to serve these new mains.

Mr. Medders stated that with the facilities we have to offer industries, we cannot help but look to a brighter industrial future.

Sheriff Henry Sinyard was the only guest present at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

Colonels Get Lift With 6 Point Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Forget about your three-point field goal or your basket plus foul shot. The Kentucky Colonels have come up with a six-point play, with technical assistance from Virginia's Neil Johnson.

The six-pointer midway through the fourth quarter helped the Colonels beat Virginia 145-137 Wednesday night and move to within 3½ games of the first-place Squires in the American Basketball Association's East Division.

Here's how it happened. Mike Pratt of Kentucky drew a two-shot foul from Johnson who became so incensed at the call that, before being ejected, he was hit with four technical fouls. Louie Dampier made the four technical foul shots, boosting his successful free throw string to 45, four short of the league mark. Then Pratt made his two foul shots.

Dan Issel led Kentucky with 36 points, and Dampier and Darrel Carrier added 30 each.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Indiana edged Utah 111-106, the New York Nets topped Memphis 110-101 and Carolina beat the Floridians 120-113.

In the National Basketball Association, Boston whipped Seattle 137-112, Cincinnati edged Portland 133-128 in overtime, Detroit nipped San Diego 100-99, the New York Knicks ripped Cleveland 127-94, Buffalo downed San Francisco 115-108 and Milwaukee took Chicago 119-106.

Indiana ripped off nine straight points in the fourth quarter to break an 86-86 tie and go on to cut Utah's West Division lead to one game. Roger Brown hit a basket and foul shot and Freddie Lewis connected on a jump shot to put the Pacers out of reach after Utah had closed to 102-100. Lewis led Indiana with 27 points. Willie Wise paced Utah with 33.

The Nets rode past Memphis on Rick Barry's 40 points in a game that was marred when referee Andy Hershock collapsed and died late in the third period. Jimmy Jones topped Memphis with 28 points.

Carolina got double-figure scoring from six players in beating the Floridians 120-113. Joe Caldwell scored 33 points and George Lehmman 26 for the Cougars. Warren Davis hit for 34 and Larry Jones 30 for the Floridians.

Californians Lead Way in Tennis Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pair of Californians seeded 1-2 — Billie Jean King of Long Beach and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco — led the way into today's quarterfinals of the $15,000 British Motors Women's Pro Tennis Championships.

Elimination play continues through Saturday night with the girls shooting for the richest prizes ever offered women net pros — $4,300 for first and $2,100 for second.

Mrs. King eliminated South Africa's Esme Emanuel 6-2, 6-3 and goes today against Francoise Durr of France who defeated Judy Tegart Dalton of Australia 6-2, 7-5 in the last match Wednesday night.

Miss Casals was in top form in downing Karen Krantzcke of Australia 6-2, 6-2. Her quarter-final opponent is Mary Ann Curtis of St. Louis, who won 6-2, 6-2 over Stephanie Johnson of Denver.

Thud-seeded Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex. is matched with Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich. in the quarterfinal.

Miss Richey whipped Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif. 6-1, 6-2, and Miss Bartkowicz used a strong two-handed backhand to down Denise Carter of Los Altos Hills, Calif. 6-3, 6-4.

Ann Jones of England, seeded No. 4, defeated Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif. 6-4, 6-3, and meets Kerry Melville of Australia who eliminated veteran Darlene Hard of Van Nuys, Calif. 6-2, 6-4.

Rangers and Bruins Wage Private War

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, waging their own private war atop the National Hockey League East Division, all but wiped out the opposition in the balloting for the NHL east All-Star squad.

Six Rangers, five Bruins and one Montreal player—defenseman J. C. Tremblay—were named Wednesday by NHL writers as the core of the team to face the West squad in the 24th All-Star Game Jan. 19 in Boston. East Coach Harry Sinden of the Bruins will select eight additional players later.

Goalies Gilles Villemure and Ed Giacomin, defensemen Brad Park and Jim Neilson and forwards Jean Ratelle and Dave Balon were the Rangers to make the team.

Boston defenseman Bobby Orr and forwards Phil Esposito and Johnny Bucyk were unanimous selections by the writers, who also named forwards Ken Hodge and John McKenzie of the Bruins.

The 12-player nucleus of the West squad, to be coached by Scotty Bowman of St. Louis, will be named Friday.

Rangers All But Lock Up Vezina Trophy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ed Giacomin and Gilles Villemure weren't anywhere near a goal—but the two New York Rangers netminders still managed to all but lock up the Vezina Trophy for the first half of the National Hockey League season.

The Rangers weren't even scheduled Wednesday night. But Chicago was—and the 4-2 loss to lowly Los Angeles probably cost Black Hawks netminders Gerry Desjardins and Tony Esposito the trophy, awarded for the fewest goals allowed through the first 39 games.

The Rangers have already played 39 and have given up just 84 goals which got them the two goalie berths on the East Division All-Star squad. Chicago has allowed the same number—but in 38 games. The one remaining will be against Boston, the highest scoring team in the NHL.

In Wednesday night's other NHL action, Montreal blitzed Vancouver 7-3, Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Toronto and Minnesota played to a 4-4 tie and California turned backed St. Louis 6-3.

Ross Lonsberry paced the Kings' attack with a pair of goals. After Jim Pappin pulled Chicago within a goal of a tie midway in the final period, Lonsberry fired the clincher into an open Black Hawks net with 15 seconds remaining, snapping their unbeaten home ice string at 18 games.

Vancouver scored twice in the opening two minutes, then fell under Montreal's unrelenting assault as the Canadiens scored the next six goals, two by Yvan Cournoyer, Pete Mahovich also tallied twice for the winners.

Bobby Clarke's second goal of the night for Philadelphia midway in the third period snapped a 3-3 tie, ended the Flyers' winless skein at 11 games and lifted them into a fourth-place West Division tie with the Penguins.

Jim McKenny's first goal of the year boosted Toronto into its deadlock with the North Stars, who got a pair of tallies from Tommy Williams in the game marked by several skirmishes.

California built a 6-0 lead after two periods and then withstood St. Louis' last period surge in snapping a five-game losing streak. Dennis Hextall scored twice for the Golden Seals while Bill Hicke, Ernie Hicke, Gerry Ehman and Norm Ferguson produced the other goals. Jim Lorentz, Red Berenson and Tim Ecclestone scored for the Blues.

Judicial Management Class Ready

By KEN HOSKINS
Associated Press Writer
DENVER (AP) — When the 11 U.S. Circuit Courts begin searching for recently authorized administrators, there will be a place to find persons specially trained for the job—the Institute for Court Management.

The institute, established last year under a $750,000 Ford Foundation grant, graduated its first class of 31 in December.

Among the first alumni are W. Wayne Bruckner, now Missouri's first state court administrator, and Andrew Talley, currently Superior Court administrator for the State of Delaware.

James Thomas, assistant executive director of the institute, said creation of the federal court administrative position, approved by President Nixon Tuesday, "is what we expected."

"We knew this was in the wind," he said. "We hope to be able to fulfill the need and I think we can."

The institute is backed by the American Judicature Society, the Institute for Judicial Administration and the American Bar Association.

It also is directly associated with the University of Denver Law School, which opened its own course in judicial administration this fall with eight post-graduate students.

The institute's nondegree program covers 26 weeks, ranging from court organization, judicial responsibility and personnel management to financial management in government, operations research and legal method.

"We have hopes," said Dean Robert Yegge of the law school "that the institute program can evolve into a master's degree in judicial management. We're experimenting on the degree program this year on a small scale with eight students."

tencing, and operations of the public defender.

Thomas noted that 35 states and some 50 municipalities already have full-time court administrators.

"The large municipal courts are just crying for people who know how to run the judicial system," Yegge said. "And the volume in traffic and other 'cash register' courts is fantastic. That really needs some expert management skills."

Yegge added that court administrative positions pay "extremely well." The federal court administrators just authorized may draw up to $36,000 annually.

More Highway Projects Authorized

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission Wednesday authorized Highway Director Ward Goodman to begin plans for constructing a four-lane artery along U.S. 71 linking Rogers and Fayetteville.

The commissioners said, in response to questions, that usually three to five years lapse before sufficient funds for such a project become available. The project, covering a distance of 5.4 miles, is expected to cost about $2.5 million.

The action is subject to approval of the Federal Highway Administration and the availability of federal aid.

The commission also: —Authorized a start on plans for a new district headquarters on a 30-acre site southeast of Pine Bluff where U.S. 65 and U.S. 81 meet.

—Authorized the purchase of 60 acres of land for $150,000. The land, near the present state Highway Department headquarters, would become the site of the department's sign shop, which now is in North Little Rock, and another facility which is now in Jacksonville.

—Authorized the purchase of a tract of land joining the District 4 headquarters in Sebastian County for $23,500. The commissioners said the district office needs more land.

Arkla Offers to Help Mena If Necessary

MENA, Ark. (AP) — W. R. Stephens, president of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., said Wednesday that Arkla would be willing to help if the city of Mena was in danger of losing its gas supply.

The gas supply was nearly lost Tuesday, almost a year to the day since service to the entire town went out during sub-freezing weather in 1970.

A spokesman for the Mena gas system said Wednesday, however, that gas was flowing again and pressure was near normal. Most of Tuesday's trouble was caused by freezing wells in northern Louisiana.

Caught With Cash Drawers Wide Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon—caught with its cash drawers open—says it is sending scouts around the world to find out, in part, how much Food for Peace money was converted to arms for war.

Armistead I. Selden, deputy assistant secretary of defense, said it "extremely difficult, if not altogether impossible" to place a dollar value on U.S. military assistance to foreign nations.

"These figures are in the field. They can be gotten; they will be gotten," he told a Joint Economic subcommittee Wednesday.

But he said Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., was correct "as far as he went" in estimating the total military aid cost at $7 billion in fiscal 1970.

War-time conditions in Vietnam, said Selden, have prevented the Defense Department from cataloging money turned over to South Vietnamese, Thai and Philippine troops.

"We certainly are not trying to hide any figures," he said. Noting the U.S. has been in the war since 1965, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said, "all you have to do is mention war and

Baseball's Immunity Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's immunity from antitrust laws, once said by Sinclair Lewis to be as eternal as the Republican party, faces a new challenge in the Supreme Court.

Bill Valentine and Tony Salerno, two umpires who say they were fired by the American League for union activities, are seeking the right to press triple-damage suits against baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and American League President Joe Cronin.

So far, Valentine and Salerno have been turned down by federal district and appeals courts in New York City because of a 1922 Supreme Court judgment that baseball is not engaged in interstate commerce and therefore not affected by antitrust laws.

Their last chance is the high court, and a decision could somehow you don't have to be accountable."

"Most of us in Washington have seen a lot of mismanagement in government programs," said the subcommittee chairman, "but this is the first time I have come across one that appears to be characterized by unmanagement."

come Monday when the justices return from a three-week recess.

Four years ago, the Court rejected 5 to 3 an appeal by Wisconsin that challenged the shift of the National League Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr. voted to hear the state's allegations that baseball is an illegal monopoly operating in total disregard of antitrust laws.

Had one more justice lined up with them, the court would have had to re-examine the 1922 holding that Lewis wrote about in "Babbit" and that has given baseball broader leeway than that enjoyed by any other sport or business.

Professional boxing, football and basketball have been put within the reach of antitrust law.

Valentine and Salerno are hoping their appeal will catch the eye and approval of at least four justices. Since the Wisconsin case, Thurgood Marshall, Warren E. Burger and Harry A. Blackmun have joined the court. Their views are not known.

The umpires were discharged Sept. 16, 1968, because Cronin said, they were not competent. The umpires said they were fired for trying to drum up a union among their colleagues.

If the Court refuses to hear the case the damage suit will be dead. But still alive will be an unfair-labor-practices suit presently before the National Labor Relations Board.

Later this month, the U.S. court of appeals in New York City, will hear another case that sends shivers along the spines of baseball moguls: outfielder Curt Flood's bid to break the baseball reserve clause.

Flood, who has signed to play this year with the Washington

Senators, also is seeking reversal of the 1922 ruling. The reserve clause binds players to the teams owning their contracts.

The Flood case has won the headlines. If Valentine and Salerno lose, however, the outfielder would seem to have little chance.

Distaff Side
The expression, "distaff side," means the female branch (maternal line) of a family. The expression stems from the time when women spun thread from a distaff, a staff for holding bunches of wool or flax.

The first practical air conditioner which controlled temperature and humidity was installed in a Brooklyn printing plant in 1902.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Change. That's what it's all about this year. And that's what we mean by putting you first.

These are uneasy times. There are major concerns. About pollution. About safety. About your hard-earned dollar. We know.

For the past 10 years Chevrolet research people have questioned thousands of people on every subject from rising taxes to the size of the glovebox in their cars.

We've found that price and maintenance costs, trade-in value and quality have become tremendously important.

Your car has to work. It has to last. And each new model must have more built-in value.

At Chevrolet, we understand. You want meaningful change. You want improvements that are not just skin-deep, but deep-seated.

And one of those, among the many that you'll find in the 1971 Chevrolets, is new emission controls to help bring back clean air. In every new model, we've made further substantial reductions in both the discharge of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide.

All 1971 Chevrolet engines run efficiently on the new no-lead or low-lead gasoline, too, which not only decreases air pollution but increases the life of your spark plugs, exhaust system and other engine components.

Caprice. The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change.

Bigness in itself is nothing. But if it allows you to lengthen the distance between the front and rear wheels (which we did), then you've got something.

You've got a smoother ride.

The idea in the 1971 Caprice was to give you the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, without asking you to pay that much for it. And above all, to build in as much dependability and security as possible.

So we changed the body structure, too. We made it stronger. And we made it quieter by putting a double layer of steel in the roof.

Caprice, as you can see below, is a lot of luxury at a Chevrolet price.

Vega. The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything.

Before building Vega, we read everything we could get our hands on about little cars. We talked to owners. We studied little cars up one side and down the other and, literally, tore them apart. We found out what made them tick, or why they didn't tick.

What ticked were gas economy and dependability. What didn't were under-powered engines, cramped quarters and getting blown around in the wind.

In our little Vega, everything ticks. It's not just another little car. You didn't want that. It's one little car that does everything well.

Caprice.

Monte Carlo.

Changed? No, refined. The classic fine-grid grille is one refinement. Another. Power-Beam headlights are spaced wider apart. Plus a tasteful new hood ornament.

Chevelle. How do you change America's most popular mid-size car? Very carefully. We contoured a new grille. Gave you new single-unit Power-Beam headlights. Resculptured both bumpers. Carefully. Very carefully.

Avanishing tailgate.

A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Glide-Away tailgate disappears under the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way.

Camaro. We've just made a few changes to make America's best-liked sporty car even more so: 1) Built head restraints right into the front bucket seats. 2) Cushioned the steering wheel center. 3) Modified the engines for new no-lead or low-lead fuel.

Nova. We changed our attitude about change and gave you only what you asked for. New colors and fabrics, new Power-Beam headlights, a more responsive standard Six, Nova, still America's not-too-small not-too-big car.

See what we mean by putting you first? Now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Jim Jacoby and his teammates, the World's Champion Dallas Aces, continued their remarkable string of tournament successes by tying with the newly formed team of internationalists George Rapee and Bill Grieve of New York, Peter Pender and Grant Baze of San Francisco and Tony Dionisio of New York playing with Harlow Lewis of Philadelphia in the 1970 Reisinger team game.

Today's hand shows George using excellent technique at a four-spade contract.

He looked over dummy and saw that his problem would be to avoid losing a heart trick. If he could get either opponent to lead from the king he would be all right. Otherwise, he had to find a way to discard a heart from one hand or the other.

One place would be his fourth diamond, but that looked doubtful since the 10-spot lead appeared to be the top of a doubleton. Anyway, George ducked the first diamond, but won the second when West continued the suit.

The ace of spades and a spade to dummy's king accounted for all the adverse trumps. Now George was ready to try a new suit. Clubs! He led dummy's three-spot and stuck in his jack after East played the seven. West won and led a club right back. He had nothing better to do since he was sure he could not afford to lead from his king of hearts. East had to play the queen, whereupon dummy's 10 of clubs gave George a parking place for his six of hearts.

Nothing sensational, but most expert play isn't sensational. It merely consists of giving the cards a chance to work for you.

GIVE YOUR FURNACE SOME HEATING HELP

By MR. FIX

Especially cold days leave many homeowners wondering if they need a new heating system. When you start reaching for an extra sweater and you have an urge to push the thermostat way, way up don't blame your heating system too quickly.

Most appliances and pieces of machinery are seldom used at full efficiency and your furnace is no exception. Figure out a few ways to make it work better and you will save money while you become more comfortable.

It is important that your house is properly insulated. The builder should have taken care of that when the house went up and there's little for you to do except in unfinished areas.

Overhead areas are often left unfinished. Check to see if there is insulation between ceiling joists. If not, pour in loose insulation two to four inches deep.

Drafts from around doors and windows can be cut down with weatherstripping. Even a well-fitted door has a gap across the bottom; put on a metal-based felt strip so that the felt rides on the floor.

Weatherstripping is used to cover up an opening between sash and frame. For openings in the frame itself and for cracks on the outside of the house use caulking. If you must caulk on a cold day leave the caulking compound in a warm place for awhile before applying it.

Make certain that windows close completely and can be locked. If the window is closed and weatherstripped

Styles Recall Those Young, Happy Years

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The shiny-haired blonde walked out of a thrift shop. She was about 19 and wore a delighted grin and a ratty raccoon that could have warmed the seats at a Yale game decades ago.

It was impossible not to match her smile.

"Isn't it cool?" she asked. On her at 19 it was, indeed, "cool," this fashion of the past.

On campuses and city streets today you see enough suede, leather and fringe to have kept Calamity Jane on the best-dressed list for a lifetime.

Shoe store windows display platform soles a la Joan Crawford of the '30s in numbers sufficient to shod the dancing feet of the choruses of many a former Hollywood extravaganza.

Nostalgia is creeping into many areas of living. And fashion, too, is reaching back to "the good old days."

But who embraces the fashions of the past most ardently? The kids who learned all about them from old movies.

Peasant costumes and dirndls, both favorites in the '40s, are selling themselves silly. And it's the young people who are doing the buying. Any woman who once wore them proudly to dance to Benny Goodman or Glenn Miller on the juke box will now look and long—but won't touch. Why give the mirror a chance to spoil a joyful reminiscence? The mirror of memory provides a happier reflection.

One wonders. Are the kids trying to tell us they liked what we were better than they like what we are? Or is it all just costume and camp to them?

Nostalgia is a normal reaction to fashion. Every woman thinks back with pleasure to the period of her life when she looked her best and had the most fun.

After the space age and Andre Courregé took us as far as we could go with "tough chic," even designers wearied of dressing us to look like cover girls on bad science fiction magazines. And they went back to that glamorous, feminine period of the '30s and '40s for inspiration.

That was the era when movie stars set the fashion trend—when every girl dressed in the image of beautiful Garbo, sexy Harlow or sweater-girl Turner. It was more exciting than following the lead of today's fashion pacesetters, the Beautiful People, who somehow always manage to look as though they came out of the same box of tin soldiers.

Girls who were in their 20s during World War II welcomed Dior's New Look in '47, with its long, full skirt so feminine after the skimpy, mannish clothes that wartime occupations and fabric restrictions had made necessary. The change was a timely one.

So why isn't the midi accepted wholeheartedly by everyone who remembers the feminine feeling of the long hemline of '47?

One reason is that women who wore it so long ago are aware that a few decades change figures and faces. Fashions they wore when they were very young are STILL fashions just for the very young.

The kids love the midi, that throwback to the days of elegance. Why not? It can't add age to their appearance. It can only add a quaint bit of charm they could never achieve in a miniskirt. And they can still slip into a mini when they'd rather look sexy.

But teen-ager to grandma, the past is very much with us all. And we're happy with the return of the graceful look. Women's Lib notwithstanding, the idea of being able to find clothes that can make you seem either appealingly fragile, a subtle temptress or fashionably haughty, according to your mood, is a welcome return to an era of glamor. It's a lovely feeling.

Nicest of all are the return of the hat as a fashion accessory and new hairstyles that make the use of stiffening sprays obsolete. Not in a long, long time has anyone except the kids known how nice it is to have a man touch her hair and not say "Ugh!" Anyone over 25 had long since forgotten.

Although the midi may be aging for some, the return of the to-the-knee skirt is a plus for anyone over 30.

There is something for everyone since designers are reverting to styles inspired by fashions of the past.

"The good old days," it seems, have more to offer than just poignant retrospection.

A Tree Grows As Berlin Waits

By LEE MUELLER

BERLIN (NEA)

While citizens of the two Germanys soak in what has been described as the heady wine of high international diplomacy; while they wait; while the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France discuss "easing the postwar Berlin problem," a tree is growing in the Wall.

Actually, the tree is growing between the Walls. There are two of them now, you know. The old one: A haphazard amalgamation of old store-fronts and a six-foot brick wall with barbed wire strung across the top. And the "modern" one: Eight feet of concrete blocks with a round, concrete tube on top—so that anyone attempting to scale it won't have any edges to grab.

Behind the wall, on the East Berlin side, is an area of about 50 yards called "no-man's land." Anyone seen on it is immediately shot if the land mines don't blow him up first. Behind "no-man's land" are East Berlin guards and Russian soldiers who do the shooting. Behind them, yet another barrier.

"It is now considered impossible for anyone to escape into West Berlin over the Wall," said Dr. Hans-Joachim Kausch, an executive for the Springer newspapers here. "Any escapes of this nature are usually attempted outside the Wall area where there are only barbed wire and guards."

When the old Wall was first constructed in 1961, many East Germans, separated from families and jobs, attempted escape. The West Germans erected a cross wherever a man has been killed while climbing the Wall. There were 87 crosses when the last count was made.

"No one will ever know how many people never got far enough to be counted," said a West German tourist official.

Yet, the tree grows taller and the two Germanys wait.

"The young people growing up in East Berlin now have been steeped in the Communist system," said Dr. Kausch. "They're very fanatical. More and more, Berlin is becoming two cities, two ways of life, instead of just a city divided by a wall."

Sunday, Aug. 13, 1961, claims a West Berlin guide book, was the saddest day in postwar Germany's history. During early morning hours under the cover of tanks and soldiers, the Soviet sector and zonal boundaries were sealed off in a zigzag pattern of bricks and barbed wire and chevaux-de-frise.

Three years before, in an attempt to establish a strong position in Central Europe, Russia demanded, among other things, that Western powers withdraw their troops from West Berlin.

The demand was not met, of course. "If the U.S.A., Britain and France ever removed their soldiers from West Berlin, we'd be absorbed into East Germany in two weeks," said Dr. Kausch.

So, the Soviets "suggested" to the East German government that it "take such measures on the border to West Berlin as to guarantee a reliable guard and an effective control around the whole area of West Berlin—including its boundaries with East Berlin."

Hence the Wall. Hence the tree, which is growing.

West Berliners consider their city an island of freedom in the middle of a Red sea. Surrounded by Communism, it is a prosperous, lively, surprisingly spacious community whose main problem—aside from certain existing boundaries—is attracting young people.

Many youths are leaving for West Germany, but others are being encouraged, financially, to stay. Young families moving to West Berlin are given plane tickets and easy loans to set up housekeeping. There is such a thing in West Berlin, for example, as "childing" off your government loan, which can go up to $3,000.

The government reduces the balance by 25 per cent for every child the family produces. "Four kids and you're out of debt," said a young airline employee. West Berlin's population is 2.2 million (compared to East Berlin's 1.1 million). It is expected to get larger.

Meanwhile, the tree is growing.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

THE WALL of Berlin, modern version, looms high over West Berliners erecting a sign that says: "Soldier, you remain alone with your guilt!" It is directed to East German guards who shot a man trying to escape.

Blight-free Corn Coming From Hawaii

By BEVERLY PETERSON
Associated Press Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — The harvest of 1,100 acres of blight-resistant hybrid seed corn soon will be en route from Hawaii to the Midwestern corn belt to help combat a destructive leaf blight which swept mainland crops last year.

The seed corn is being cultivated on Hawaii's "Garden Isle," Kauai, by Metcalf Farms for the Pride Seed Co. of Glenn Haven, Wis., and four other firms which supply 25 to 30 per cent of the nation's seed corn each year.

Damage from Southern corn blight was blamed by the Department of Agriculture for a decline in the nation's corn production last year of an estimated 14.7 per cent from an anticipated yield of 4.8 million bushels. It was the smallest crop in four years.

"It's sure going to help, getting this winter crop to the mainland in time for spring planting," Harold Barr, office manager of Metcalf Farm's operations on Kauai, said Tuesday.

"Here we are harvesting a crop and on the mainland the fields are covered with snow," he said the hybrid seed has been tested and is "100 per cent effective" in resisting corn blight.

Richard Metcalf, owner of Metcalf Farms and president of Pride Seed flew some 15,000 pounds of blight-resistant corn seed to Hawaii last August along with 90,000 pounds of machinery.

Metcalf leased 400 acres of sugar cane land in the Waimea Valley on Kauai, 100 miles northwest of Honolulu, from Kilauea Sugar Co., and expanded the project as more land became available from Kilauea Sugar, which is phasing out its sugar cane operations.

Barr said 4,500 acres may be available soon and Metcalf Farms plans to cultivate some of that.

Barr said Metcalf's plans of growing the corn year-around still hold.

"We should be finished harvesting by the end of the month and start planting the middle of next month again."

British Urge Crackdown on Smoking

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The British government came under strong pressure today to act against cigarettes after the Royal College of Physicians reported that smoking kills more than 27,000 Britons a year.

Some sources predicted that within weeks the government would follow the United States' lead and order health warnings printed on cigarette packs. Further restrictions on advertising cigarette commercials are already banned from television—were considered inevitable.

"The government must now take prompt action to see that effective preventative measures to discourage cigarette smoking are taken," the Guardian said in an editorial. Most other newspapers agreed and several urged curbs on advertising, although newspapers would be hit hardest.

The Daily Telegraph warned against a "monster horror blitz" against smoking, however, and asked: "Is it the duty of the government to terrify its subjects?"

"It can inform, warn, exhort and set an example," the newspaper said. "In restricting an prohibiting it should move cautiously."

The report from the Royal College of Physicians, one of Britain's leading medical bodies, said lung cancer was the biggest killer of cigarette smokers, but thousands die each year of bronchitis or coronary afflictions.

"The chances are that two out of five heavy cigarette smokers 825 or more a day—but only one out of five nonsmokers, will die before the age of 65," it said. "The man of 35 who is an average cigarette smoker—15 to 24 a day—is likely on average to lose 5½ years of life compared with a nonsmoker."

If nothing is done about the problem, it said, smoking could kill 50,000 Britons a year by the 1980s.

The report called for warning notices on cigarette packs, a total ban on cigarette advertising, enforcement of smoking restrictions in public places, wider curbs on smoking at work, removal of cigarette vending machines from public places and laws limiting nicotine and tar content of cigarettes.

British Blame Nixon's Trouble on Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON (AP) — Britain's Financial Times has blamed the 91st Congress for many of President Nixon's problems. A columnist for the London Evening Standard said he caused the U.S. economy's troubles.

"Few Americans, and least of all President Nixon, will be sorry to see the 91st Congress dissolved," the Financial Times said last week. It called the 91st a "muddled, ill-tempered, do-nothing Congress" that set up a situation in which Nixon will have to "run against Congress" in 1972.

Lord Balogh, economic adviser to the British Cabinet from 1964 through 1967, wrote in the Evening Standard that Nixon should change his orthodox economic policies to avert even higher unemployment and lower production. The radical approach, Lord Balogh wrote, should include agreement with labor and industry on wage and price controls.

The Washington correspondent of Le Monde wrote of another sticky Nixon administration problem. The prisoners of war held in North Vietnam, Jacques Amalric said the administration was "visibly embarrassed" after Hanoi released a list of 368 prisoners and said it was complete.

"Unless it claims that North Vietnamese leaders are lying and have released an incomplete list," Amalric wrote in the Paris newspaper, "it will be more difficult in the future for American authorities to accuse Hanoi of inhumanity toward the families of the pilots classified among the missing."

The city manager said that the appropriation for the street department would be adequate to carry on as big a maintenance program of city streets as was done last year and that there would be no major equipment needed for the street department for the coming year. He pointed out, however, that with the rising cost of equipment and labor, that maintaining the same level of service the coming years was going to be more and more difficult unless some increase in revenues can be found. In approving the budget of $101,000 for the health department - an increase of $9,000 over the 1970 budget - the Board noted that gross charges for the health program amounted to only $76,000, and ordered a study to determine what rates would have to be charged to make this service pay its own way.

Melvin Thrash and Bob Jackson, newly elected members of the Board, sat in on the budget meeting with the present Board members. Both of them will be sworn into office and assume their duties at the first regular meeting in January which will be Tuesday, January 12.

New Hormone Use Is Five Years Away

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientist whose small agency collects a precious natural hormone for treating dwarfism in children says it will be up to five years before mass production of a new manmade substitute eliminates need for his services.

Dr. Salvatore Raiti, director of the federally supported National Pituitary Agency in Baltimore, said he would be inclined to hope success by San Francisco researchers in making the hormone in a laboratory "would immediately put our agency out of service."

That would mean that more children with this kind of dwarfism were already being helped by the synthetic product," he said in a telephone interview Wednesday. "But it may take up to five years or so before the new laboratory-synthesized hormone becomes available widely as a commercial product."

Until and perhaps beyond that time, Raiti said, his agency of seven staff members will continue collecting pituitary glands from cadavers for extraction of the growth hormone and other hormones.

Understanding Needed Says Mr. Romney

By G. C. THELEN JR.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Integrating the suburbs cries out for as much public understanding as the Vietnam war, says Housing Secretary George Romney. As a starter, he said at a news conference Wednesday, the phrase "forced integration" should be dropped because it is "unfortunate ... and an oversimplification."

President Nixon has promoted the phrase, saying recently that forced integration of suburban housing was not in the national interest.

Romney admitted using the phrase himself on several occasions because of its appearance in press reports.

The right term? "Prevention of discrimination," Romney said.

Further, he said, the integration dispute directs attention from the real problem which is providing adequate housing for all persons within a reasonable distance of their jobs.

Since urban land is almost used up, the secretary said, the bulk of government-subsidized housing will have to be built in outlying areas to meet the congressionally ordered production goal of 2.6 million units a year.

What precisely is the administration's policy on housing discrimination enforcement? It's still being worked out with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and President Nixon, Romney said.

But the one-time contender for the Republican presidential nomination implied he would be distressed if the final policy failed to condemn further discrimination.

Romney's compilation of his federal accomplishments omitted any increased housing opportunities for minority group members. It mentioned instead "educating Americans concerning their rights under the fair housing and equal opportunity provisions of the law."

The secretary contended most suburban communities are voluntarily accepting government-subsidized housing for low and moderate income families. Most of those eligible for such housing are white tradesmen and not black welfare recipients, he said.

The housing discrimination question is one of the most delicate facing the government, Romney said.

"Just how far can the government go in administering general civil rights laws without setting back housing opportunities for all—diminishing rather than increasing housing by clumsy, unsuccessful policies that build up resistance?" he asked.

Describes Fragging Incident

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
QUANG TRI, Vietnam (AP) — Sgt. Gene Tingley usually got to the orderly room shortly before 6 a.m. to relieve the night duty sergeant. That morning he overslept. At 6:03, five pounds of plastic explosive blew the headquarters building apart.

The blast crippled the duty sergeant and broke the leg of a GI asleep in the next room.

"It took me until about noon to figure out they were out to get me," Tingley said. "Then it was kinda shocking."

Tingley, 37, of Madrid, Iowa, first sergeant of Headquarters Company, 14th Engineers, was the target of a "fragging"—an attack by a GI using a fragmentation grenade or other explosive against another American, usually his sergeant or an officer.

Army spokesmen claim they don't know how many fraggings occur in Vietnam. They say the problem is not serious enough to warrant special attention at headquarters.

But it is known that fraggings increase sharply as U.S. units shift into defensive positions preparing for withdrawal. Concerned field officers see it as another manifestation of growing frustration, racial tension and deterioration of morale.

One battalion commander in the Americal Division has all "frag" grenades collected from his troops as they come out of the field. The soldiers get them back when they board helicopters for another combat assault.

At the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, less lethal white phosphorus grenades have replaced frags on the bunker line around the Quang Tri combat base. Soldiers in other units report a general tightening of rules on handling ammunition.

Although reports vary widely among units, an authoritative source in the Americal Division said fraggings average "about one a week, and there are at least one or two units in the country where it runs higher."

Most fraggings occur in rear areas, and the target usually is some one in authority—a non-com or an officer. Perhaps 10 per cent kill or seriously injure the target.

Some are meant as warnings only. Others fail due to inept use of the explosive. It is not unusual for bystanders to be hurt because of mistiming.

Very few fraggings are caught, often because the evidence is destroyed in the explosion.

Those caught usually have below-average intelligence and a history of trouble with military or civilian authority. Drug use often is suspected in fragging cases, but investigators admit to little evidence of this.

Nobody has been convicted for any of these attacks.

Tingley, lean, with shaved head and closely trimmed red mustache, keeps his back ramrod-straight even when he relaxes with a beer, the embodiment of 17 years of military discipline.

"I'm called a hard-nosed, hard-head professional," he said. "I am. I believe discipline is our biggest problem."

When he came to Vietnam with the 14th Engineers in 1965, Tingley said, "They were a straight-leg, well disciplined unit. We never had none of this bull." Now, during his second tour, "they have less work to do and more time to kill. Morale is a problem because we have nothing to offer them."
